

Introduction to Linguistics

Prerequisite: None

Credit Hours: (2)

This course presents the basic concepts of language and linguistics along with the core subfields of linguistics (Phonetics, Phonology, Morphology, Syntax, Semantics, and Pragmatics). The course also introduces interdisciplinary language sciences, historical-comparative linguistics, language acquisition, language learning, and the developments and major research findings in the field.