

Computer and Statistics

Prerequisite: None

Credit Hours: (2)

This course examines available computer-assisted language assessment, and discusses ways in which computer technology can increase the validity of assessments. It also introduces the conventions of statistical analysis and covers concepts of sorting and displaying data, reliability and validity, cause and effect analysis, statistical tables and formulas, and guidelines for working with a computer.